

Stages of Evidence-Informed Practice

- We live in a data rich world.
- All necessary information we can find in the internet.
- Questionnaire is the best method to use for data collection in the school setting.
- Qualitative data give more information than quantitative data.
- I always use data to improve different processes in the school.
- I know and often use more than 10 different data collection methods.

